

SHIPPING BILL VOTE FRIDAY

House Democrats Pass Rigid
Rule Limiting General Debate to Five Hours.

REPUBLICANS PROTEST

Kitchen Explains Time Has Come to Stop "Wind-Jamming" and Do Real Work.

The House yesterday paved the way for consideration of the ship purchase bill by the adoption of a special rule limiting general debate on the measure to five hours and requiring that a vote be taken on it on Friday. The rule is the most drastic that has been adopted since the days of the Cannon regime shortly before the progressive revolution.

The Republicans protested against reducing the time for the consideration of the measure to arbitrary limits and fixing the hour for a final vote whether the details had been passed upon or not. The Democratic leaders, however, charging the Republicans with filibustering, adopted the rule on a party vote. Two Republicans, a Progressive, and Representative London, the New York Socialist, voted with them.

In urging the adoption of the rule Representative Kitchen, the majority leader, said:

"If the Democrats will vote together we can pass this bill in a reasonable time and stop filibustering and wind-jamming over on that side of the House. The time has come for the House to stop talking and go to legislation. I want to say to my fellow Democrats here that we are responsible for the legislation in this House. We have a majority. We can run this House and manage its procedure just as we want to do it. The Democrats want to do it."

A light on the provision for the appointment of the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of Commerce as ex-officio members of the proposed shipping board was forwarded in an inquiry addressed by Representative Mann, the minority leader, to Chairman Alexander, of the merchant marine committee. Mr. Mann suggested that it would be dangerous to give the two political appointees the right to vote on matters having to do with the regulation of ocean freight rates and the activities of water carriers unless they had followed the arguments in the same manner as the active members of the board. Representative Alexander indicated that there might be some opposition to a motion to strike this provision from the bill.

Representative Alexander opened the general debate on the shipping bill by explaining briefly its purpose. Republican members of the committee attacked it, asserting that it would retard rather than promote the development of a merchant marine, and would not be a benefit upon the shipbuilding industry which it now is full of.

GIRLS TO BE GRADUATED IN GOWNS OF OWN MAKE

National School of Domestic Arts and Sciences Will Hold Commencement
Exercises Today.

The National School of Domestic Arts and Sciences graduating class held class exercises and a May festival at the Playhouse yesterday. Inclement weather prevented the exercises at the new school building at Wisconsin avenue and Edmonds street. Miss Arline Bailey, of Jackson, Va., was crowned queen of May. Miss Catherine Prince, of Dayton, Ohio, sang an ode to her.

The exercises were opened with the singing of the class song, composed by Miss Mildred Brady. Class histories were given by Mildred French and Mildred Cleveland. Class prophecies were made by Eleanor Kenney and Irene Tinsley, and class poems were read by Cornelia Lamb and Mildred Brady. Dorothy Brantz and Helen Gahan were class donors.

Rev. J. T. Huddle opened the second part of the festival with the invocation. Miss Ida Batdorf, sponsor of the class, told of the rustic archer she would have presented at the new grounds had the weather permitted. The gift was accepted on behalf of the school by Miss Mary Arline Zuchowat.

Representative Small, of North Carolina, will be the principal speaker at the graduation exercises, to be held today at 10 o'clock at Masonic Temple. The class of sixty will be attired in dresses of their own designing and manufacture.

In recognition of the patronage received from the people of Washington, a day department scholarship has been awarded to each of the four high schools of Washington—Eastern, Western, Central and McKinley. The scholarships have been accepted by the Board of Education and transmitted to the separate schools.

BURTON IS INDORSED BY "LAWYER AND BANKER"

Professional Journal Gives Support to Ohio Candidate for Presidency—Prints Editorial.

The "Lawyer and Banker," a large and influential journal, in a lead editorial yesterday, came out emphatically for Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, for President.

The Journal declared that Burton is the one man among the Republican candidates who fulfill every requirement of the party for the coming campaign. The "Lawyer and Banker" has been studying the Republican situation for several months, but until yesterday it had taken no definite stand. Its decision is doubtless based on its recent poll of State legislatures, municipal councils and boards of aldermen. About 2,000 votes were cast in this poll. Mr. Burton leading his nearest rival, former Senator Root, by nearly two to one. Justice Huston finished third.

It is as easy and rapid to clean silver wear with the Silver-Clean Pan as it is to wash a teacup. This happy and practical result is brought about by galvanic electric action consequent to the combination of metal used in the construction of the pan, and the solution of water, table salt and bread soda. There is no rubbing, you simply submerge the silver to be cleaned in the solution; no injury. Sizes for all uses.
